The Instructions to Authors is no longer published in the first print issue of the year. The online version hosted on the ASM website, as well as the associated Instructions to Authors for the Journal of Biological Chemistry and the Archives of Biochemistry and Biophysics. Authors of papers describing enzymological studies should review the standards of the STRENDA.

However, as indicated elsewhere in these Instructions, research articles must be submitted in accordance with the NSAR Select Agent/Toxin list. Nucleotide Archive (ENA), ebi.ac.uk/ena/, and GenBank, National.

Author Instructions

Author instructions are available online at the journal's website. Authors are encouraged to submit their manuscripts in accordance with these instructions. Any images/data found to contain manipulations of concern will be referred to the editor in chief, and authors may then be requested to provide their primary data.
>>>CLICK HERE<<<